DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-16 and 24-25 are presented for examination.

Applicant's response to the election/restriction requirement filed on December 1, 2008 is acknowledged. Accordingly, Applicant elects Group I, claims 1-16 and 24-25, without traverse. Claims 1-16 and 24-25 are hereby examined on the merits.

Objection to Specification

The first paragraph of the specification does not contain continuing data to which the instant specification claims benefit from. An appropriate amendment is required.

LACK OF WRITTEN DESCRIPTION UNDER 35 U.S.C. § 112, FIRST PARAGRAPH:

Claims 1-16 and 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The specification discloses chemicals, such as compounds of formula I, which meet the written description and enablement provisions of 35 USC 112, first paragraph. However, claims 1-16 and 24-25 are directed to encompass derivatives, pro-drugs, tautomers and/or isomers, which only correspond in some undefined way to specifically instantly disclosed chemicals. None of these derivatives, meet the written description provision of 35 USC § 112, first paragraph, due to lacking chemical structural information for what they are and chemical structures are highly variant and encompass a myriad of possibilities. The specification provides insufficient written description to support the genus encompassed by the claim. The written basis for "non-deleterious substituent" is only listed in the spec. on page 9, lines 1-26. No other such substituents have written basis corresponding to the generic wording of this phrase in the claims Vas-Cath, Inc. v. Mahurkar, 19 USPQ2d 1111, makes clear that "applicant must convey with reasonable clarity to those skilled in the art that, as of the filing date sought, he or she was in possession of the invention. The invention is, for purposes of the 'written description' inquiry, whatever is now claimed. (See page 1117). The specification does not "clearly allow persons of ordinary skill in the art to recognize that [he or she] invented what is claimed." (See Vas-Cath at page 1116).

With the exception of the above specifically disclosed chemical structures, the skilled artisan cannot envision the detailed chemical structure of the encompassed derivatives, analogs, etc., regardless of the complexity or simplicity of the method of isolation. Adequate written description requires more than a mere statement that it is part of the invention and reference to a potential method for isolating it. The chemical structure itself is required. See Fiers v. Revel, 25 USPQ2d 1601, 1606 (CAFC 1993) Baird, 30 USPQ2d 1481, 1483, claims directed to mammalian FGF's were found unpatentable due to lack of written description for the broad class. The specification provided only the bovine sequence. Finally, University of California v. Eli Lilly and Co., 43 USPQ2d 1398, 1404, 1405 held that:

...To fulfill the written description requirement, a patent specification must describe an invention and do so in sufficient detail that one skilled in the art can clearly conclude that “the inventor invented the claimed invention.” Lockwood v. American Airlines, Inc., 107 F.3d 1565, 1572, 41 USPQ2d 1961, 1966 (1997); In re Gosteli, 872 F.2d 1008, 1012, 10 USPQ2d 1614, 1618 (Fed. Cir. 1989) (“[T]he description must clearly allow persons of ordinary skill in the art to recognize that [the inventor] invented what is claimed.”). Thus, an applicant complies with the written description requirement “by describing the invention, with all its claimed limitations, not that which makes it obvious,” and by using “such descriptive means as words, structures, figures, diagrams, formulas, etc., that set forth the claimed invention.” Lockwood, 107 F.3d at 1572, 41 USPQ2d at 1966.

Therefore, only the above chemically structurally defined chemicals, but not the full breadth of the claim(s) meet the written description provision of 35 USC § 112, first paragraph. The species specifically disclosed are not representative of the genus because the genus is highly variant. Applicant is reminded that Vas-Cath makes clear that the written description provision of 35 USC § 112 is severable from its enablement provision. (See page 1115).

Claim Rejection - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1-16 and 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Denisenko et al. (US Pub No. 2004/0266844 A1).

Denisenko et al. teach the compound of formula I together with pharmaceutical or veterinary compositions containing them (see abstract). The compound of formula I (see paragraph 0013) can be mixed with feed stuff for livestock or poultry raised using husbandary techniques (see paragraph 0003). Dosage levels of the compound of formula I may be of the order of up to about 1 g per Kg body weight. Dosage unit forms will generally contain between from about 5 mg to about 500 mg of active ingredient meet the instant claim limitations regarding being an amount effective to promote growth (see paragraph 0119). The same compound is administered to the same animals by the same method, therefore, the method claimed is inherent.

Consequently, the reference anticipates the claimed invention defined in claims 1-16 and 24-25.
